B = Breakfast, L = Lunch, D = Dinner

January 27, 2016: Arrive in Bangkok

Travelers will be met at Suvarnabhumi International Airport by an Abercrombie & Kent guide after clearing immigration and customs. Your guide and private air-conditioned vehicle will then transfer you to the famous Mandarin Oriental Bangkok to check in.

Bangkok is one of the most cosmopolitan Asian cities: a steamy, pulsating, yet welcoming metropolis of more than ten million people—intense at first, but addictive.

Evening activities include cocktails and dinner on the private Menorah Boat Cruise.

January 28, 2016: Bangkok

Enjoy a quintessentially Thai experience by observing a Buddhist ceremony in the morning.

After breakfast, you will attend a two hour Panel Discussion & Guests’ Speech on aspects of the history and culture of Bangkok at the Function Room of the Mandarin, Oriental. Following the panel discussion lunch will be served at the Mandarin Oriental.
After lunch, site visits include: the Grand Palace, the royal palace of the kings of the Chakri dynasty, founded in 1782 and the current ruling house; a boat cruise to explore the Thonburi Klongs and the Chao Phraya River (the River of the Kings); the Wat Arun (Temple of Dawn), a dramatic temple on the south bank of the river; and the Royal Barge Museum, one of Bangkok's most fascinating sights, providing a rare insight into Thai history and culture.

Dinner will be served at the Mandarin Oriental and will be followed by a visit to a Muay Thai arena to explore the country's national sport ingrained deep within Thai society.

Please note: appropriate attire must be worn when visiting the Grand Palace. Short skirts, shorts and sleeveless attire are not permitted. Some buildings within the Grand Palace are only open to visitors from Monday-Friday.

January 29, 2016: Bangkok / Chiang Mai

Visit Prasart Museum, a private family gallery and garden that highlights the artistic splendor of Thai culture. Lunch will follow at an authentic Thai restaurant with dishes that will include local and home-grown cuisine and specialties.

Guests will then check out of the Mandarin Oriental and be driven to Suvarnabhumi International Airport for the flight to Chiang Mai.

Check in at the Four Seasons Chiang Mai.

Chiang Mai is Thailand’s gateway to its great north country; a region of rugged mountains, rich stands of hardwood forest, and the last domain of the complex web of tribal groups which have migrated into the relatively isolated region of the north over the past 1,000 years from their original bases in central and southern China.

Dinner will be held at The Gallery, one of Chiang Mai’s most famous local restaurants.

January 30, 2016: Chiang Mai

Depart the hotel for a morning trip into the northern Thai countryside, beginning with a visit to the Chiang Dao Elephant Training Camp. The visit to the camp will include some time for bamboo or river rafting on the river, which flows through the campsite. Guests will then visit the Hilltribe Villages.

Lunch will be served at the Rinrade Resort.

Afternoon activities will include a visit with Patricia Cheeseman, an expert on textiles, and her dyeing workshop. Guests will have an opportunity to see her collection of rare costumes and learn about the “Weaving for the Environment” project that she founded to preserve her ancient craft.

Dinner will be served at the unique Whole Earth restaurant.

January 31, 2016: Chiang Mai / Yangon

After breakfast at the hotel, guests will visit the Waroros Market, also known as “Kad Luang” (Big Market) on the banks of the River Ping.

From the market, guests will travel to Doi Suthep. At 3,500 feet above sea level the temple grounds provide fine views over Chiang Mai and the surrounding Lanna Kingdom. The morning will conclude with a rickshaw ride to Wat Phrasing, situated in the center of the city.

Lunch will be served at an authentic local restaurant prior to returning to the hotel to check out.

From the hotel guests will transfer to the Chiang Mai Airport and travel to Yangon.

Yangon is a city where contemporary and colonial Myanmar (19th and 20th centuries) continue to coexist decades after British departure. It is a handsome city with a history of over two millennia, though it has been a capital for a mere 100 years.

Rebuilt on a grid plan in the 1850s, the wide tree-lined boulevards are bordered by fine stone buildings. In the 1880s, Yangon was renowned as the “Queen of the East”.

Guests will check in at the Governors Residence.

February 1, 2016: Yangon

Morning activities include a visit to Botataung Pagoda, followed by a trip to the Sule Pagoda and the Scott Market (Bogyoke Aung San Market).

Lunch will be served at the Strand Hotel.

OPTIONAL: A UNIQUE LECTURE WITH DEBBIE AUNG DIN AND JIM TAYLOR

Enjoy a stimulating lecture and conversation with Jim Taylor and Debbie Aung Din, the founders of one of Myanmar’s most prominent social and economic enterprises, Proximity Designs.

In the afternoon, guests will visit the National Museum, the showpiece of which is the Lion’s Throne, a striking example of the Myanmar art of woodcarving.

The day will end with a visit to the Shwedagon Pagoda. This architectural masterpiece is a golden fantasy of gilded stupas, serene Buddhas and mythical beasts said to be 2,500 years old.

OPTIONAL: 1,000 OIL LAMPS TO ILLUMINATE SHWEDAGON PAGODA

At sunset, guests have the option to visit Shwedagon Pagoda and take part in the lighting of 1,000 special oil lamps to illuminate this magnificent structure at dusk.

Dinner will be at Le Planteur Restaurant.

February 2, 2016: Yangon / Bagan

Early morning flight from Yangon airport to Bagan.

Upon arrival in Bagan, guests will visit the local market in Nyaung Oo and then continue to Shwezigon Pagoda, which was built to house the Buddha's collarbone, frontal bone and tooth gathered from various countries. Also included in the expedition is a visit to Kubyaукgyи Temple, which is located in the little village of Wetkyi-In.

Lunch will be served at BBB Restaurant.

The afternoon will include a visit to the last “Burmans-style” temple built in Bagan—the Htilominlo
Temple—which is 150 feet tall and 140 feet wide at its base. Guests will then take a horse cart ride to Ananda Temple, one of the best preserved temples in Bagan. Special activities include a visit to a lacquerware workshop to witness the process of this ancient craft in its spiritual home.

The evening will close with a sunset cruise on the Ayeyarwaddy River. Dinner will be at the hotel.

February 3, 2016: Bagan

OPTIONAL: BALLOON RIDE OVER BAGAN

Enjoy an early morning sunrise over Bagan from a hot air balloon. Guests will have a magnificent “bird’s-eye” view of the thousands of pagodas and temples and the mighty Ayeyarwaddy River as they float serenely across the “Golden Land”.

A follow-on excursion will lead to the environs of Mount Popa. Lunch will be served at Popa Mountain Restaurant.

The afternoon will be filled with sightseeing in Bagan. In the village of Minnanthu, just a few miles southeast of Bagan, guests will visit the Sulamani Temple, one of the largest temples among the many ruins in the vicinity.

January 24, 2016: Bangkok/Siem Reap
Arrive at the Bangkok airport in the afternoon and travel to Siem Reap.
On arrival at the Siem Reap Airport, VIP assistance and a visa on arrival will be arranged. Meet and transfer to Raffles Grand Hotel.

Nestled between rice paddies and stretched along a river, this former sleepy riverside provincial town of Siem Reap serves as the gateway to the ancient magnificent Angkor and other ruins which formerly the seat of power for the once vast and glorious Khmer empire through the 9th and 15th centuries AD. Enjoy a magical evening with dinner and a performance of Apsara dancers.

January 25, 2016: Siem Reap
The morning will start with a visit to Angkor Thom complex. Visit the mysterious Bayon Temple, which was constructed during the reign of King Jayavarman VII. Situated in front of the east entry tower of the enclosing wall at the Royal Palace is the Terrace of the Elephants.

Enjoy a picnic lunch at Sras Srang.

Conclude your sightseeing this morning to Ta Prohm. Its modern name, meaning “Old Brahma,” is quite inaccurate, as the temple was built by Jayavarman as a Mahayana Buddhist sanctuary.

Later in the afternoon visit a local Buddhist monastery with alms offering and monks blessing. Once inside the pagoda, take a seat on the floor in front of Buddhist monks who sit in saffron robes. Then embark on a boat ride on Tonle Sap Lake (Great Lake) to observe local life as it unfolds along the floating villages that dot the shoreline.

On the way back visit Les Artisans d’Angkor—a school for underprivileged youth where they are taught the ancient crafts of wood and stone carving, creating lacquerware, painting and silk weaving.

Dinner will be served at the Foreign Correspondents Club, a haven for expatriates in Cambodia. This exclusive eatery is housed in the former French Governor's mansion and filled with historical allure.

Special note: visitors are required to have their photo taken on-site before being allowed admittance into the Angkor Wat complex. Women are suggested to dress modestly during the visit to temples—no see-through clothes, bare shoulders and must be skirts below knee length. Over the next two days your itinerary is kept flexible in order to enjoy the magnificent surroundings of Siem Reap without following the tourist masses and upon your pace.

January 26, 2016: Siem Reap
Visit Angkor Wat at sunrise and the “crowning jewel” of Khmer architecture—one of Asia’s most magnificent archaeological ruins. Return to hotel for a late breakfast.

Drive to the outskirts of Siem Reap for a visit to the pink sandstone, Banteay Srei, standing apart from the other monuments of the Angkor region. Also visit Sam's Brothers Clean water project, an A&K Philanthropy project that provides local communities with clean water on the way back to hotel.

Lunch will be served at the Bong Thom House. Following lunch visit the Roluos Group including Prah Ko, Bakong and Lolei Temples along with an Oxcart Ride.

Dinner will be served at the Athakorn House (Local House). The Athakon house is built on two large rice-fields, which for many years were fed by streaming water originating from the Phnom Kulen holy mountain.

January 27, 2016: Siem Reap / Bangkok
Return to Bangkok International Airport early in the morning where you board your flight from Siem Reap back to Bangkok.

Itinerary subject to change.

Following your cyclo ride enjoy visits to:

Hoan Kiem Lake: This is a small lake located in the middle of Hanoi stretching between the Old Quarter and the French Quarter where a Turtle Pagoda stands on one of the lake’s two islands. Not only does the lake serve as a gathering point but it also is a performance venue during major festivals.

Ngoc Son Temple: Situated on an island in Hoan Kiem Lake, this quiet 18th-century shrine, whose name means “Jade Mountain,” is one of Hanoi’s most picturesque temples. This shrine is dedicated to 13th-century military hero Tran Hung Dao, the scholar Van Xuong, and to Nguyen Van Sieu, a Confucian master who assumed responsibility for repairs made to the temple and the surrounding areas in 1864.

Hanoi Ancient House: Located within Hanoi Old Quarter, the ancient house at 87 Ma May Street which was built at the late of the 20th century is quite intact with typical architecture of ancient houses.

Continue on and visit the historic One Pillar Pagoda—built in the 11th century by King Ly Thai To, the pagoda known to locals as “Chua Mot Cot” is one of Vietnam's most iconic temples.

You will also visit the most popular temple site in Hanoi, Quoc Tu Giam, a Confucian temple otherwise known as Temple of Literature. Recognized as Hanoi's first university, the temple hosts the Imperial Academy and has educated Vietnam's royalty and members of elite society for nearly 700 years.

In the morning your guide will meet and transfer you overland from Hanoi to Halong Bay. Over 3,000 islands dapple the crystalline waters of the bay (which is part of the Gulf of Tonkin) covering 1,500 square kilometers of beach, forest and mountain. The limestone formations—washed by the sea for thousands of years—that dominate the landscape are richly celebrated in local folklore. Ha Long Bay has twice been recognized by UNESCO as a World Natural Heritage Area for its exceptional scenic beauty and outstanding geological and geomorphic values.

At noon, you will check-in at your private cruise center Tuan Chau Marina, Tuan Chau Island.
